

conclusion

During the period, the University, having reviewed performance indicators against the strategic plan for the 5-year period 1997-2002, developed strategic and operational plans for the next period, 2002-2007. In the academic year 2002-2003, the Mona Campus will be working assiduously towards achieving those objectives set out in these plans for the academic year which are aimed, as were those of the previous period, at advancing the University's mission towards enabling regional competitiveness in a global market place.
